

Round Harbour, Resettlement, 2012
Houses and fishing stages above the harbour
40 × 50 in, c-print

Pinchard's Island, 2020-ongoing

Two portraits of Doris, my grandmother, 1958 and 2020

4 × 4 in, family archive; 40 × 50 in, c-print

Walking the Island, Pinchard's Island, 2016

Walking the island on a return, beside a memory map drawn by Bob Green, original resident

20 × 30 in, archival pigment print; 16 × 20 in, archival pigment print

Cabin, Pinchard's Island, 2017

Bob Green and Gerald Gill outside the off-grid cabin my family built on the island

30 × 30 in, archival pigment print

Cloudberry, 2017-2018

One frame from a solar camera left on my family's cabin, Pinchard's Island. 22 December 2017, 11:00 a.m.

16 × 20 in, archival pigment print

Cloudberry, 2017-2018
Nine frames of 1,955 photographs
16 × 20 in, archival pigment prints

Cabin, 2017-2018

A Montreal studio rebuilt around the Cloudberry live feed. The window is the camera's view of Pinchard's Island

10 × 8 × 10 ft

Driftwood, 2018

A log from the Atlantic, hung and moved by live ocean buoy data

Kinetic sculpture, 6 ft long, 5 in diameter. Watch 0:00-1:00. vimeo.com/269360970

Light House, 2020

The frame of my family's cabin, traced in solar-powered light on the shore at night

12 × 24 × 24 ft sculpture, wood and lights. Video, 5:04. Watch 0:00-1:00. vimeo.com/499014653

Mug Up, 2018

A mug up on the shore at Little Bay Islands with my grandmother Doris

Video, 8:00. 16:9. Watch 0:00-2:00. vimeo.com/305628538

Bakeapple Picking on Pinchard's Island, 2017
Mary Green, Rose Vincent, and Bob Green picking bakeapples
30 × 40 in, c-print; 8 × 10 in, c-print

Bakeapple Picking on Pinchard's Island, 2026
Buckets of bakeapples and a single berry
7 × 5 in each, archival pigment prints

Bakeapple (in development), 2026

Photogrammetric capture of a single bakeapple picked by my grandmother on Pinchard's Island, with camera positions (top right) and a 3D test print (bottom right)

2.5 cm diameter source; 50 mm test print in translucent full-colour UV-cured acrylic resin

Bakeapple (proposed), 2027

Digital rendering of the berry that will grow during this residency, shown on the Newfoundland coast

14 × 15 × 16 in (approx.)